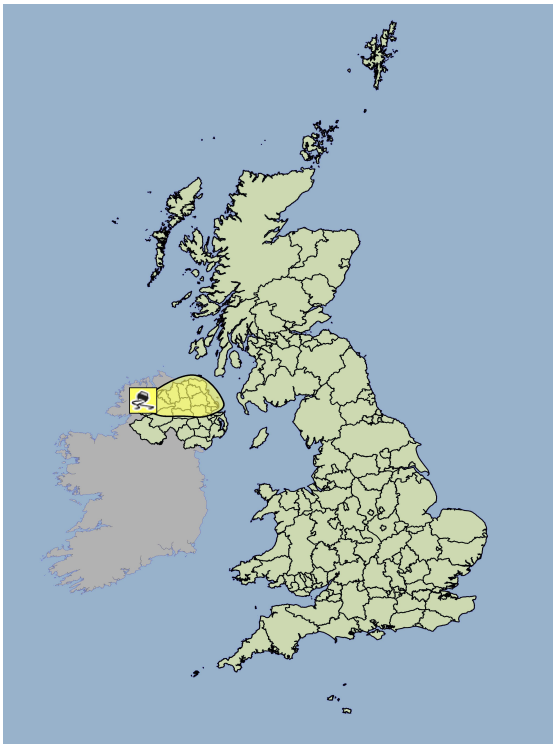
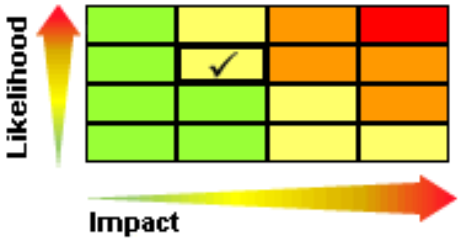
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Clear spells will allow road and pavement temperatures to fall below freezing on Tuesday evening and night. Occasional wintry showers drifting in from the north will increase the risk of icy stretches, as well as bring some slight snowfalls to higher ground.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 20:00 on Tue, 23rd Feb 2016 until 09:00 on Wed, 24th Feb 2016

Icy stretches are expected to form on many untreated roads and pavements on Tuesday evening, lasting into Wednesday morning, especially where wintry showers fall. In addition, slight snowfalls of 1-2cm are possible on some higher routes, chiefly above 200m.

Please be aware of the risk of some difficult driving conditions, and some low level travel disruption.
